Reviews

This publication is really gripping and exciting. It really is basic but unexpected situations in the 50 % in the book. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

The numbers in the third column are obtained by doubling those in a table of 200 cases, collected from those of M. Lebert and Mr. Birkett, as well as from my own. production of cancer; but they do not prove that the defect of that process has more influence than others of the coincident events. I think we may most safely hold that the aptness of this time of life for the development of hard cancer is chiefly due to the general failure of the process of maintenance by nutrition, which usually has at this time its beginning, and of which the most obvious natural signs are in the diminution of the powers of the reproductive organs. It is in favour of this view, rather than of any especial influence of the reproductive organs, or of change in the mammary gland, that, so far as we can estimate, with so small a number of cases as are yet on record, the ages of increasing frequency of hard cancer in the male breast, and of primary hard cancer in other organs, coincide with the results of the far more numerous cases in the female breast. This would hardly be so if it were the condition of the female breast itself, or of any nearly related organ, that alone or chiefly determined the greater frequency of the...
